This policy is based on advice from the Department for Education (DfE) on:

- Behaviour and discipline in schools
- The Equality Act 2010
- Keeping Children Safe in Education
- Exclusions from maintained schools, academies, and pupil referral units in England
- Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children in schools and colleges
- What is peer on peer abuse
- Mental Health and Behaviour in Schools
- Behaviour in Schools Advice for headteachers and school staff January 2022
- It is also based on the Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) Code of Practice
- Preventing and tackling bullying advice for headteachers, school staff and governing bodies

Aims

This policy aims to:

- Prevent, de-escalate and stop any continuation of bullying behaviour. Bullying can occur in many settings including schools and workplaces; at TGGS we adopt a proactive approach towards ensuring that there is a zero-tolerance attitude towards bullying within our school community.
- Ensure that there is a consistent approach to the school's approach to bullying.
- Ensure that all students, staff, parents and trustees understand the definition of bullying and the school policy regarding bullying.
- Provide guidance for how to report bullying and the school's zero-tolerance approach to bullying.
- Ensure that all Staff and trustees follow the school policy when bullying is suspected or reported.
- Ensure that any suspected incidents of bullying when there is 'reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering or likely to suffer significant harm' must be addressed as a child protection concern and reported to the Designated Safeguarding Lead and to the local authority children's social care.
- Safeguard the student who has experienced bullying and to ensure that they receive the appropriate support.
- Address the bullying with the perpetrator/s ensuring that disciplinary sanctions are applied consistently and proportionately in line with our whole school behaviour policy. The perpetrator/s will also have support, and this is likely to involve external agencies.
- Outline how pupils are expected to behave to their peers and/or school staff
- Outline how we are proactive in educating students and staff about bullying through our wider curriculum.

This policy also applies to incidents of bullying that occur outside of the school day, including cyberbullying.

At TGGS, we place a strong emphasis upon building positive relationships and if bullying does occur, we will use restorative practice and provide opportunities for mediation.

Statement of Intent

At Torquay Girls' Grammar School, our intent is to equip students with the academic qualifications, character skills and high self-esteem to lead long, healthy, and happy lives. This intent is reflected within our anti-bullying policy; we will safeguard all students so that they can learn in an environment that is safe from bullying or the threat of bullying, allowing students to flourish during their school years. Our school community is welcoming, respectful and inclusive with an emphasis upon building and maintaining positive relationships; our students have specifically endorsed the values of kindness, open-mindedness, respect, reflection and resilience, and we expect our pupils to adhere to these values at all times.

TGGS is fully committed to ensuring that students learn in a safe, respectful, kind, and inclusive environment and bullying of any kind will not be tolerated. Bullying is unacceptable, it creates an unsafe environment for learning, and it affects everyone including victims and perpetrators. It can be detrimental to a student's learning and impact their mental health both in the short term and the long term.

If bullying does occur, all pupils can be assured that all incidents will be dealt with promptly and thoroughly. We aim to ensure that our community understands why bullying is unacceptable through our wider curriculum and we have a whole school approach to restorative practice. Students will be encouraged to be upstanders, rather than bystanders and to take responsibility for their actions and understand the impact of bullying upon other students.

As part of the school's personal development programme we expect our students to act as role models and ambassadors throughout their time in school. All students belong to a House and our house culture allows students to build positive relationships and support each other during their school years. Positive behaviour is consistently modelled by older students, and this includes a zero-tolerance attitude towards bullying. There are various opportunities for students to build positive relationships through student leadership and peer mentoring schemes, including the Anti-Bullying Diana Award. To ensure that all students feel supported and represented we have a Gender Sexuality Alliance group in school for both Key Stage 3 and Key Stage 4/5 which is supported by Stonewall trained members of staff. We also embrace diversity through fortnightly celebration of diversity boards and regular assemblies.

Prevention Strategy

At TGGS our school community is respectful, inclusive, and kind and we have a zero-tolerance approach to bullying. We have adopted a wide range of proactive strategies to prevent bullying which includes:

- School leadership which is committed to ensuring that there is a zero-tolerance approach to bullying
- PSHE and tutor time which focus upon anti-bullying throughout the academic year
- PSHE and tutor time focuses upon diversity and inclusion
- The PSHE student leadership programme which is led by sixth form ambassadors
- SMSC events which are celebrated throughout the academic year
- Events led by the armed forces which focus upon team building
- Student voice via the student council and form representatives
- Celebration of diversity presentation which are shared fortnightly
- A Multifaith and reflection room which is open to all students and staff
- The Peer mentoring scheme- Diana Award

Definition of Bullying

“Bullying in any form is unacceptable and can have a devastating effect on children, young people and their families. It is so important that we all take a stand against bullying so we can help create safe and inclusive places for young people both in schools and online.” Children and Families Minister Will Quince

Bullying is defined as the repetitive, intentional harming of one person or group by another person or group, where the relationship involves an imbalance of power.

Bullying is, therefore:

- Deliberately hurtful
- Repeated, often over a period of time
- Difficult to defend against.

Bullying is a form of child-on-child abuse and can include:

TYPE OF BULLYING	DEFINITION
Emotional	Being unfriendly, excluding, tormenting
Physical	Hitting, kicking, pushing, shaking, biting, hair pulling, taking another’s belongings, any use of violence Initiation/hazing type violence and rituals.
Prejudice-based and discriminatory, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Racial</li> <li>• Faith-based</li> <li>• Gendered (sexist)</li> <li>• Homophobic</li> <li>• Biphobic</li> <li>• Transphobic</li> <li>• Disability-based</li> </ul>	Taunts, gestures, graffiti or physical abuse focused on a particular characteristic (e.g. gender, race, sexuality) or home circumstances-targeting individuals who are looked after children or because of a particular home circumstance.
Sexual	Explicit sexual remarks, display of sexual material, sexual gestures, unwanted physical attention, comments about sexual reputation or performance, or inappropriate touching. This also applies to any sexual harassment which is online including the soliciting and /or sharing of nude, semi-nude images and videos. Causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent, such as forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually or engage in sexual activity with a third person. Upskirting is a criminal offence and involves taking a picture under a person’s clothing without their permission with the intention of viewing their genitals or buttocks to obtain sexual gratification or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm.
Direct or indirect verbal	Name-calling, sarcasm, spreading rumours, teasing.
Cyber-bullying	Bullying that takes place online, such as through social networking sites, TikTok, messaging apps or gaming sites. This also applies when it is directed against members of school staff.

Bullying can impact a person's self-esteem and self-worth and they may feel that they are at fault. Students who are being bullied may present with a change in their behaviours, for example anxiety, absences from school, withdrawn from their peers, family and staff. This can also be evident in their school studies as they could lack concentration and may truant from school or feign illness to avoid coming into school. These signs may not be indicative of bullying, but it should be considered as a possibility and followed up by staff who are concerned. All staff should be aware that children with special educational needs or disabilities, and/or students who identify as LGBTQ+ can be more prone to peer group isolation or bullying than other students. Students with SEND or certain medical conditions may not be able to articulate that they are being impacted by bullying behaviours and it may be more difficult to assess the impact of bullying behaviours upon students with SEND. Any reports of bullying which impacts students with SEND must be communicated to the SENDCO and the safeguarding team.

Bullying may happen to anyone, and this policy applies to school staff, whether by pupils' parents or other staff. Members of staff suffering from or concerned about bullying can raise this with their line managers, and/or the Headteacher and they will be offered support and advice.

Reporting Procedures

If bullying is suspected or reported the incident will be taken seriously and dealt with promptly, and thoroughly. In the first instance, we will aim to try to resolve the issue through working with both parties, but this will depend upon the nature of the bullying that has been reported, and the individual circumstances.

The person who has reported the incident may then be asked to make a statement to a trusted adult (usually the Head of Year). The student will be asked to share any evidence that they have, for example, messages on social media. The Head of Year will then take statements from other witnesses as appropriate.

The alleged perpetrator/s will also be asked about the incident, and they will be asked to write a statement. If they have any evidence, for example social media messages, they will be asked to provide that to the Head of Year. If there are any witness/s they will also be asked to provide the names of the students so that they can be interviewed.

Form tutors and subject staff will be informed of the situation and asked to monitor the behaviour of the students involved. There may be a need for a risk assessment which will be shared with subject staff if appropriate. Parents will be informed and asked to cooperate with the school and avoid any contact with the alleged perpetrator/s.

Each incident of actual or alleged bullying is unique both in its presentation and the impact that it will have upon individuals. Any suspected incidents of bullying when there is 'reasonable cause to suspect that a child is suffering or likely to suffer significant harm' must be addressed as a child protection concern and reported to the DSL and to the local authority children's social care. The SENDCO will also be alerted if the bullying involves a student with SEND.

Some types of harassing or threatening behaviour or communications can be a criminal offence. If school staff suspect that an offence may be committed, they should seek assistance from the police.

Students who are victims of bullying will typically be supported by their tutor, Head of Year, or any other trusted adult. They will be offered counselling and signposted to other external agencies if appropriate.

Students who have bullied other students will also be supported by a member of staff, typically the Head of Year or any other trusted adult. They will be offered counselling and signposted to other external agencies if appropriate. Parents/carers will also be involved in discussions about the nature of bullying and an action plan to prevent a recurrence of bullying behaviour. Depending upon the nature of the bullying, both parties involved may be offered a mediation session/s to rebuild relationships and establish clear boundaries.

Disciplinary Steps

School staff have the power to discipline students for misbehaving when they are not on the school site. This may include bullying incidents which occur during travel to and from school, at local shops, social events, in a town or village centre or online. When bullying that occurs outside of the school premises is reported to school staff it will be promptly and thoroughly investigated. If the misbehaviour is criminal or poses a threat to others, the police will be notified.

If bullying is proven the school will follow the behaviour policy and this will be viewed as a Level 3 incident

L3 serious misbehaviour: This type of behaviour is potentially a criminal act, has the potential to cause harm to persons or property, or brings the reputation of the school into disrepute. See TGGS behaviour policy.

Level 3 sanctions can include:

The Headteacher or Deputy Headteacher may use one or more of the following sanctions in response to serious misbehaviour:

- After school detention- these can be set for any school day, weekends during term time or non-teaching days
- Not being allowed to go on school trips
- Internal isolation within school (this could be in the cabin for SEND students)
- Suspension
- Permanent exclusion

Level 3 behaviour incidents can have safeguarding implications for both the victim and the perpetrator. All school staff will follow the child protection policy and outside agencies are likely to be involved to ensure that the student is safeguarded. We will apply appropriate disciplinary sanctions to the student who is engaging in bullying and provide support to allow them to reflect and engage in restorative practice.

We will safeguard the student who has experienced bullying and ensure that they have support that they can access during the school day.

Malicious Allegations

Where a pupil makes an allegation against a member of staff and that allegation is shown to have been deliberately invented or malicious, the school will discipline the pupil in accordance with this policy. In all cases where an allegation is determined to be unsubstantiated, unfounded, false or malicious, the school's designated safeguarding lead (in collaboration with the local authority designated officer, where relevant) will consider whether the pupil who made the allegation is in need of help, or the allegation may have been a cry for help. If so, a referral to children's social care may be appropriate.

The school will also consider the pastoral needs of pupils accused of misconduct. Please refer to our child protection and safeguarding policy for more information on responding to allegations of abuse against staff or other pupils.

Development, Monitoring and Reviews

We plan to:

Monitor, evaluate and review our anti-bullying policy on a regular basis with input from the safeguarding team, Heads of Year and other members of school staff.

Report incidents of bullying including actions undertaken.

Analysis of behaviour data to identify potential trends that help to inform future preventative action.

Support staff through CPD to identify and address bullying appropriately.

Ensure that all students understand bullying behaviours and the consequences that bullying can have upon individuals.

To ensure that students are confident in how to report any incidents of bullying.

To ensure that members of the community are confident that any reports of bullying will be thoroughly and promptly investigated and managed sensitively.

To seek feedback from Student Voice and the Diana Anti-bullying Ambassadors regarding bullying.
